ABOUT OUR FOUNDERS

Co-founder and CEO, Patrick Mish, started SilverStay after caring for his dad who suffered from dementia with physical and verbal aggression. In his search for assisted living communities, he found the process opaque, riddled with miscommunication, and completely devoid of clinical quality data. Frustrated by this fragmented market, he started SilverStay with the goal of streamlining and clarifying the assisted living selection process by creating tools and processes that match client-needs with communities that have a proven track record of managing care for similar individuals. Co-founder and CSO, Vijay Varma has been involved in healthcare research and delivery for over 20 years. He started SilverStay because of the significant role his grandparents played in his life and his desire to help remove the stress and challenges with decision-making when patients discharge from the hospital.
